1 P R O C E E D I N G S

2 THE COURT: Good morning, everyone. This is Judge
3 Chapman. We're here this morning for a pretrial conference 4 in connection with a number of adversary proceedings that 5 have been filed in connection with the case of Lehman
6 Brothers Holdings, Inc. I will not recite the adversary 7 proceeding numbers. We can refer to them as we go along.

8 This hearing is being conducted entirely
9 telephonically via the Court Solutions platform and a 10 recording of the hearing is being made. No private 11 recordings are permitted.

12 I have a roster of those who have registered to 13 participate this morning. Please identify yourself for the 14 record when you speak and identify the party on whose behalf 15 you are appearing. Please do so each time that you speak so 16 that we can create an accurate record.

17 There was, I believe filed on the docket, a notice 18 of agenda for the pretrial conference, so perhaps we should 19 use that as a guide, and I will ask someone from the 20 Wollmuth firm if they would like to get us started.

21 MR. SLOCUM: May it please the Court, good
22 morning. This is Joshua Slocum from Wollmuth Maher &
23 Deutsch on behalf of the Plaintiff, Lehman Brothers
24 Holdings, Inc.

25 So this is the initial conference that was

1 scheduled for 60 adversary proceedings that Lehman filed in 2 March of this year seeking indemnification for certain 3 losses that it incurred related to mortgage loans that 4 Lehman purchased and resold to various entities. I thought 5 it would be helpful in the first point in the agenda as we 6 move forward in how to address these matters to give a brief 7 update on where things stand now.

8 As Your Honor and several of the defendants'
9 counsel that are here today with us know very well, Lehman 10 has been very successful in commercial and resolving an 11 enormous number of these and similar disputes. In 2016 and 12 2018, Lehman filed over 150 similar adversary proceedings in 13 this Court, in many cases with much larger amounts in 14 dispute.

15 Lehman has now settled with the overwhelming
16 majority of those counterparties with only, I believe, 14
17 active cases remaining. The settlement today includes 18 nearly all of the 25 largest counterparties and 94 percent 19 of the total claim amounts from those cases.

20 So for these 60 cases, our agenda contains a chart 21 at the back that lays out the status of the cases that still 22 remain. I think we've seen a similar progress in these 23 cases as we did in the earlier filed cases because the chart 24 already does not include 15 cases that have already been 25 resolved and dismissed from this latest round.

1 Indeed, there are five more defendants for whom we 2 have adjourned this conference today to facilitate the 3 finalization of the settlement. Those five defendants
4 include the largest single counterparty from among these 60
5 cases in terms of the claim amount. So there are only 40 6 cases left, and as the status chart further reflects, 12 of 7 those defendants are currently in default not having 8 answered, moved, or obtained an extension to do so.

9 So as of now, today, we have only 28 of the 60 10 cases are active; in those cases, 13 defendants have already 11 answered or moved and 16 defendants have obtained 12 extensions, so their deadline hasn't arrived.

13 So a point of clarification, one of the 14 defendants' counsel called me yesterday and pointed out that 15 in the first case in my chart, the Alderus Funding case, two 16 defendant entities are separately represented. Alderus has 17 answered, but Hamilton Home Loans has not yet answered, but 18 hasn't obtained an extension to do so, so that's why the 19 numbers I quoted added up to 29.

20 So that's a status of where things are, and I 21 think we are hopeful and optimistic that things will 22 continue to move in that direction because we already have,
23 you know, left than half of the cases that we started out 24 with.

25 If there are comments or Your Honor has questions,

1 I'm happy to answer them, but otherwise, I will move on to 2 our comments on the early ADR point (sound glitch).

3 THE COURT: All right, that summary is very 4 helpful. And as you might imagine, we have been following 5 the progress over this past period of time and the 6 continuing presentation of stipulation of dismissal in 7 connection with settlements, which just to make sure that 8 everybody is on the same page, our visibility into that 9 process is limited to our receipt of the stipulations 10 calling for requesting the dismissal of the case.

11 So we have no idea, you know, the exact amounts or 12 the nature of the settlements, but we do see that they have 13 progressed to a point where there are precious few cases 14 that remain pending as compared to where we were one or two 15 or three years ago, so that's all a very good trend. And 16 your commentary today on this last group of cases is 17 consistent with the trend that we've seen in the other 18 cases, so I'll leave it to you to continue to take us 19 through the status.

20 MR. SLOCUM: Okay, thank you. So the point in the 21 agenda is early ADR, so I wanted to address the possibility 22 of early stage ADR or settlement in these cases. Obviously, 23 there's been a lot of activity on the settlement front, as 24 I just outlined, and we're optimistic that will continue as 25 some of the defendants here get up to speed.

1 And we think a lot of the success that Lehman has 2 had over the last few years in terms of the settlements is 3 attributable to the Court's ADR orders that have been 4 entered. For cases where it has been tough to settle 5 through private negotiations, we have had great success 6 through court-ordered mediation. We hope that will 7 continue.

8 But I will say that some of the cases that have 9 been filed here today -- these were, you know, kind of the 10 last wave of cases -- that they were filed because business-11 to-business negotiations were unsuccessful in terms of 12 settlement, and also several of the defendants refused to 13 participate in the court-ordered mediation. We hope that 14 will not continue as these cases have now been filed. But 15 if it does, then we do plan to move to compel mediation for 16 any holdouts.

17 THE COURT: Let me ask on that point, is the 18 refusal to participate communicated by a principal of the 19 defendant or is it communicated by counsel?

20 MR. SLOCUM: It has typically been communicated by 21 the principals is my understanding.

22 THE COURT: Okay. I won't say anything more, 23 other than there's nothing before me, strictly speaking, on 24 that. And given the success that's been had, it's 25 disappointing that folks are not willing to consent; perhaps

1 they'll have a change of heart as you continue to pursue it.

2 MR. SLOCUM: That's our hope as well. We are 3 going to restart those processes to the extent it makes 4 sense to do so with certain defendants and any holdouts. If 5 it's necessary, we would file a separate motion to compel, 6 and so those facts would be before the Court at the 7 appropriate time.

8 THE COURT: All right.

9 MR. SLOCUM: Obviously, if private negotiations
10 are fruitful, there may be no need to mediate in any given 11 case, so Lehman will continue to be very commercial as to 12 how to best approach those settlement talks.

13 THE COURT: Okay.

14 MR. SLOCUM: So I would like to -- oh, and I was 15 just informed that, you know, just to clarify my earlier 16 answer, you know, in terms of who has been responding to the 17 mediation. It's sort of a combination among the various 18 entities; it might be the principal or just we get no 19 response at all or sometimes counsel informs us.

20 THE COURT: All right. Well, for the benefit of 21 everyone who is on the phone here today -- and there's quite 22 a few -- I would just strongly urge anyone who has not 23 responded to the overtures to engage in settlement 24 discussions, please do so. I think that, you know, it's 25 time and it's, frankly, money well spent rather than 1 proceeding down the litigation path.

2 I don't have to remind everybody that it's 2021.
3 These cases have been around a long time. Certainly, I'm 4 motivated to say that Lehman is done, and I think that all 5 of those who are working on behalf of the estate are anxious 6 to say that Lehman is done and I'm optimistic that we can 7 get there if everyone puts their nose to the grindstone.

8 Okay, let's keep going.

9 MR. SLOCUM: Thank you, Your Honor. Josh Slocum 10 again.

11 So the pending motions point in the outline, you 12 know, not every defendant has yet had their deadline come to 13 move or to answer, so this list may grow or the defendants 14 may answer. But right now to date, we have, you know, four 15 defendants have filed motions to dismiss. I'd like to just 16 briefly address not the merits obviously, but the status and 17 the way forward.

18 Three motions were filed by Miss Henderson on 19 behalf of three of her clients; they're essentially the same 20 motion that certain defendants in the prior indemnification
21 cases filed. So we would submit that a hearing would not be 22 necessary as to those motions, but we can negotiate a 23 briefing schedule with Miss Henderson and submit it to the 24 Court on consent.

25 THE COURT: All right. I see that Miss Henderson

1 is on the line. That sounds like a splendid idea to me.

2 Miss Henderson.

3 MS. HENDERSON: Good morning, Your Honor. There's 4 a significant factual difference in these motions with these 5 clients; none of them are part of any of the assignment
6 agreements. So to the extent that the Court becomes aware 7 of that, the factual differences, and feels that it's not 8 necessary to have a hearing, I have no objection. I would 9 just appreciate knowing that that's been acknowledged by the 10 Court.

11 THE COURT: I hear the words that you're saying, 12 but I don't understand what you're asking. The issue on the 13 table is setting a briefing schedule.

14 MS. HENDERSON: I don't (sound glitch).

15 THE COURT: I'm sorry?

16 MS. HENDERSON: I don't object to setting a 17 briefing schedule, Your Honor.

18 THE COURT: All right, so set a briefing schedule
19 and then I'll make a determination as to whether or not I
20 need a hearing or whether or not there can be a disposition 21 based on the papers, right?

22 MS. HENDERSON: Yes, Your Honor. I think I -- the 23 point I was trying to make is that they are not identical, 24 the motions are not identical. These defendants are not 25 similarly situated factually; that was the point I was

1 trying to make, Your Honor.

2 THE COURT: Okay. But you have to understand,
3 Miss Henderson, again, I hear the words, but I cannot 4 understand what you're talking about; they're different from 5 one another, they're different from previously defendants on 6 whose behalf you've moved to dismiss? Let's not hold 7 everybody up. File your -- agree to a briefing schedule.
8 I'll read the papers and I'll move forward from there.

9 I'm not going to acknowledge or respond to what 10 you're saying now one way or the other. Okay?

11 MS. HENDERSON: Understood, Your Honor.

12 THE COURT: Thank you.

13 MR. SLOCUM: Okay, Joshua Slocum again on behalf 14 of Lehman. The fourth motion is different than the other 15 three. It was filed by Smart Mortgage.

16 This motion seeks dismissal on the grounds that 17 the broker agreement for Smart Mortgage between Smart 18 Mortgage and Lehman was not attached to the Complaint. We 19 believe that's not a colorable basis for a motion to 20 dismiss. But we tried to contact Smart Mortgage's counsel 21 several times to ask they either withdraw the motion or at 22 least agree to a briefing schedule, and those outreaches 23 have not -- we have not ever heard back. We sent over the 24 broker agreement to Smart Mortgage's counsel and pointed out 25 that it had been provided to Smart Mortgage on multiple

1 prior occasions to facilitate settlement talks. We've 2 received no response.

3 So if Smart Mortgage won't withdraw the motion 4 based on receiving the broker agreement, we would ask the 5 Court to set a deadline of June 3rd for Lehman to respond to 6 the motion, but we think this motion is not a good use of 7 the Court's time or ours frankly.

8 THE COURT: Well, we have someone, Mr. Person is 9 on the line representing Smart Mortgage, so perhaps we could 10 hear from him right now.

11 MR. PERSON: Good morning, Your Honor. Wilton 12 Person on behalf of Smart Mortgage. At this point, I would 13 just like to get a briefing schedule. I believe the motion 14 has merits and just wanted to seek a briefing schedule and 15 also a hearing date.

16 THE COURT: Well, hold on. I mean, in the first 17 instance --

18 MR. PERSON: Yes.

19 THE COURT: -- it makes sense to try to do things 20 the efficient and easy way and not the hard way. So my 21 suggestion is that you engage with counsel for Lehman and 22 determine whether or not, based on the information that's 23 been provided, you will come to a different conclusion 24 instead of simply insisting that you're going forward. That 25 just seems to me to be the logical commonsense way to go.

1 So what I'm hearing is that there's been no
2 response. That's not the way things ought to be done. You
3 need to have a conversation first and perhaps one of you
4 convinces the other and you can go from there. So first, 5 have a conversation, which if minds are not changed, then 6 you can set a briefing schedule and I'll determine at some 7 later point whether or not a hearing will be required.

8 I've done a lot of these. At this point, it's 9 hard to imagine circumstances under which I'm going to need 10 a hearing. But can you please make a representation on the 11 record right now that you'll respond to a phone call from 12 counsel for Lehman?

13 MR. PERSON: Yes, I will respond; it's not a 14 problem.

15 THE COURT: Well apparently, it's been a problem 16 because they've just said that you haven't been willing 17 before.

18 MR. PERSON: Well, I mean, to go into detail about 19 that, Your Honor, would be -- I mean, I've had other cases
20 and hearings that I've had to respond to. I haven't had a 21 chance to --

22 THE COURT: Yeah, we all have a lot of things on 23 our plate.

24 MR. PERSON: Sure.

25 THE COURT: It's a pandemic, but it only takes 30

1 seconds to send an email and trying to set up a time for a 2 call. So I'm just going to assume that that's going to 3 happen and then you all will take it from there.

4 MR. PERSON: Yes.

5 MR. SLOCUM: Okay. Joshua Slocum again for 6 Lehman. If there's nothing further on the pending motions, 7 I will address case management orders.

8 Given the fact that not all defendants have yet
9 responded to the Complaint because they've obtained 10 extensions and other defendants are still getting up to 11 speed, we have not yet worked out a schedule for these 12 cases. Obviously, we will do so and, hopefully, submit 13 agreed scheduling orders to the extent necessary to the 14 Court in due course over the next few weeks to the extent 15 the parties are not obviously able to settle any particular 16 case in the meantime.

17 In broad strokes, we believe that discovery can 18 and should proceed expeditiously. And just so that our 19 position is clear on the record, we don't believe that any 20 stay of discover would be warranted to the extent certain 21 defendants have chosen to file pre-Answer motions to 22 dismiss.

23 In terms of the discovery for Lehman's part, as 24 the Court knows, we've already produced a lot of documents; 25 it's well over a million in highly related cases, so we

1 would be prepared to move very quickly upon receiving 2 discovery requests when that part of the schedule arrives.
3 But in most of these cases -- again, in broad strokes -- we 4 don't see any reason why depositions can't be in fulsome by 5 the Fall for parties who don't settle by then.

6 But one comment is, obviously to the extent 7 matters are able to settle, which would be our hope over the 8 next few weeks, no scheduling order would be necessary, and 9 we'd be willing to put off discovery, you know, for example, 10 early case mediation or other constructive discussions.

11 THE COURT: Okay, so perhaps I missed it. Have 12 you encountered reluctance by parties to engage in 13 discovery?

14 MR. SLOCUM: No, Your Honor. Those talks have not 15 yet begun for the reasons I outlined. So there hasn't been 16 reluctance as of yet and, hopefully, there will not be, but 17 the answer is no, not yet.

18 THE COURT: Okay, excellent. All right, that 19 sounds like a plan. I'm all for moving all this forward 20 expeditiously, fairly, efficiently and being done, and that 21 will include at some point -- not today -- if necessary, 22 setting trial dates.

23 And I think that's really all I have. I mean, 24 there are a lot of folks on the phone, so I'm happy to hear 25 from anyone else who wishes to be heard.

1 All right, very good. Well, if not seeing you in 2 person, it's good to at least see your pictures on my 3 dashboard here and to hear some of your voices. I do hope 4 that all of you have been and are well and are happily 5 trying to make your way back into the world again now that 6 we are where we are.

7 So thanks very much to the Wollmuth firm for 8 organizing this today. As always, please reach out to my 9 chambers if we can be of any assistance. Other than that, 10 we'll wait to hear from you, and we'll look forward to a lot 11 of good progress in all of these adversary proceedings.

12 That concludes the hearing for today. Please, 13 everybody, have a great day.

14 MR. SLOCUM: Thank you, Your Honor.

15 (Recess)

16 THE COURT: Good morning, everyone. We're here
17 for a hearing in connection with the Lehman Brothers cases.
18 It is Case No. 08-13555. This hearing is being conducted 19 entirely telephonically via the Court Solutions platform and 20 a recording of the hearing is being made. No private 21 recordings are permitted.

22 I have a list of those who have registered to 23 participate this morning, and if you wish to be heard at 24 some point, please identify yourself for the record and 25 identify the party on whose behalf you are appearing.

1 So as you all know, this case -- this particular 2 matter involving Lehman's objection to the allowance of the 3 Maverick claims has been pending for quite some time, took a 4 trip up to the District Court, it came back to this Court, 5 and it has been sub judice for some time.

6 And today, I've asked you all to join me so that I 7 could read you a bench ruling that will, I believe, affect 8 the final disposition of this matter. So if you would 9 please bear with me, I'm going to read; hopefully, it will 10 take no more than 20 minutes or a half an hour. Afterwards, 11 I will ask for the entry of an order, which will reference 12 the transcript of this bench ruling to be attached as an 13 exhibit and that will constitute the ruling of the Court.

14 All right, so I'm going to start reading the 15 ruling.

16 Before the Court on remand from the United States 17 District Court for the Southern District of New York is the 18 objection of Lehman Brothers Holdings, Inc. to the proofs of 19 claim filed by the Maverick entities as defined below.

20 Specifically, as set forth in the brief on remand,
21 Docket No. 59807, in further support of the 519th omnibus 22 objection to claims, which is Docket No. 53107, filed by 23 Lehman Brothers Holdings, Inc. (hereinafter, LBHI), LBHI 24 renews its request for an order disallowing the proofs of 25 claim filed by six Maverick funds (hereinafter, Maverick or

1 the Maverick entities) against LBHI in its capacity as 2 guarantor to the extent such claims exceed LBHI's alleged 3 maximum potential exposure on such guaranty claims.

4 LBHI quantifies its maximum potential exposure on 5 such guaranty claims with respect to five of the funds as 6 $4.3 million in the aggregate as of LBHI's petition date of 7 September 15th, 2008 (hereinafter, the petition date) and by 8 its brief on remand, LBHI renews its request for an order
9 disallowing Maverick's claims on behalf of those five funds 10 to the extent such claims exceed $4.3 million in the 11 aggregate.

12 LBHI seeks the complete disallowance of the claim 13 of the sixth Maverick fund for which LBHI submits that 14 Maverick agrees that such fund had no claim against LBHI as 15 of the petition date.

16 In adjudicating the appeal of this Court's prior 17 rulings with respect to Maverick's claims against LBHI, see 18 order granting plan administrator's 519th omnibus objection 19 to claims dated May 12th, 2017, Docket No. 55346, the 20 District Court found that the petition date was the 21 determinative date for calculating LBHI's guaranty liability 22 and the District Court reversed and remanded the matter to 23 this Court for further proceedings. See Maverick Long 24 Enhanced Fund, Ltd., et al v. Lehman Brothers Holdings, 25 Inc., 594 Br at 564 (S.D.N.Y. 2018).

1 Accordingly, in its opposition to LBHI's brief on 2 remand filed at Docket No. 59865, Maverick argues that LBHI 3 as guarantor remains liable as of the petition date for the 4 full $118.1 million that Lehman Brothers International 5 Europe, or LBIE, as primary obligor owed to Maverick on 6 LBHI's petition date. Maverick asserts that pursuant to the 7 Supreme Court decision in Ivanhoe Building & Loan Assn. v.
8 Orr, 295 U.S. 243 at 246 to 47, (1935) is entitled to assert
9 the full amount of such claim against each of LBIE and LBHI 10 until Maverick has been paid in full.

11 LBHI filed a reply to Maverick's opposition at 12 Docket No. 59912 and this Court held oral argument on 13 September 10th, 2019. The parties also have submitted
14 letters to the Court dated September 14th, 2020 at Docket 15 No. 60869 and October 19th, 2020 at Docket No. 60904.

16 For the reasons that follow, LBHI's objection to 17 the full allowance of Maverick's claims is denied. The 18 claims filed by the Maverick entities shall be allowed in 19 the aggregate amount of $118.1 million, subject to the 20 single satisfaction rule as discussed more fully herein.

21 Background. The Court assumes familiarity with 22 the long history of this claims allowance dispute, but will 23 provide a brief summary of pertinent background facts for 24 the purposes of this bench decision.

25 Prior to the petition date, each of the Maverick

1 entities was party to a separate prime brokerage agreement,
2 pursuant to certain Lehman entities, including LBIE, agreed 3 to maintain custody of certain cash and securities of the 4 Maverick entities. In addition to these prime brokerage 5 agreements, LBIE was party to other contracts with the 6 Maverick entities concerning the borrowing of the 7 securities, one, to facilitate, one, short trades, i.e., 8 global master securities lending agreements or GMSLAs and,
9 two, margin loans, i.e., margin loan agreements or MLAs.

10 Pursuant to the prime brokerage agreements between 11 the parties, LBIE held Maverick assets as collateral to 12 secure Maverick obligations to LBIE and LBIE's affiliates in 13 connection with transaction between and among such parties.
14 LBIE's obligations under the GMSLAs and the MLAs were the 15 subject of multiple guaranties, including an absolute and 16 unconditional guaranty of payment extended by LBHI.

17 On September 22nd, 2009, each of the six Maverick 18 entities filed a proof of claim against LBHI, which claims 19 are substantively identical in all relevant respects, 20 collectively the Maverick claims. The Maverick claims 21 assert guaranty liability against LBHI based on the primary 22 obligations of LBIE and each claim states that it, quote, 23 "constitutes a demand for payment under the guaranty," end 24 quote.

25 The Maverick claims allege that as of the petition

1 date, quote, "Lehman entities had custody of Maverick assets
2 or property pursuant to the prime brokerage documents," end 3 quote, and that the value of such Maverick assets as of the 4 petition date was approximately $118.1 million in the 5 aggregate. It's worth noting that LBHI has stated that it 6 is willing to accept Maverick's allegations as true, that 7 each Maverick entity posted collateral on a fund-specific 8 basis and that the collateral for one fund did not secure 9 the liability of the other funds. See brief on remand at 10 paragraphs 5 to 6.

11 Maverick also submits that, one, on the petition
12 date, the Maverick entities owed LBIE approximately $129.6 13 million, reflecting the value of certain margin loans and 14 loans of securities to facilitate short trades, and two, if 15 such amount had been subject to automatic netting or setoff
16 on the petition date, which Maverick asserts they were not,
17 the Maverick entities would have owed LBIE an aggregate 18 amount of approximately $11.5 million at that time.

19 Several years after the petition date and after 20 LBIE sought bankruptcy protection under English law, LBIE
21 and Maverick commenced settlement discussions. Maverick 22 submits that during such discussions, Maverick insisted that 23 the parties' position should be treated as though they had 24 been closed out and set off on the petition date, and on 25 such a basis, Maverick would have paid LBIE $11.5 million.

1 As described by Maverick, LBIE refused to agree
2 with this proposed treatment and instead, adopted the view 3 that all of Maverick's positions remained open and should be 4 valued as of the date on which the parties agreed to a final 5 settlement. Maverick maintains that for various reasons, it
6 was compelled to enter into a March 30th, 2012 settlement 7 agreement with LBIE whereby it was, quote/unquote, "forced" 8 to pay LBIE $30 million, and it did not receive credit from 9 LBIE for the full $118.1 million owed to Maverick by LBIE,
10 credit which would have reduced the amount owed by Maverick 11 to LBIE to $11.5 million.

12 Accordingly, Maverick asserts that after its 13 settlement with LBIE as primary obligor, Maverick continued 14 to retain its rights to pursue LBHI as guarantor for, among 15 other things, the full remaining balance of the $118.1 16 million and, two, any other amounts owed as a result of 17 LBIE's alleged breaches of contract and failure to provide 18 netting and setoff in the full amount that Maverick would 19 have been entitled to under applicable non-bankruptcy law.
20 See opposition at paragraph 15.

21 Discussion. Pursuant to the ruling of the 22 District Court, the only issue before the Court on remand is 23 to determine LBHI's liability as of the petition date as a 24 guarantor to Maverick; see Maverick Long Enhanced Fund Ltd.
25 v. Lehman Brothers Holding, Inc., 594 Br at 576.

1 Accordingly, this Court may not give consideration to events
2 that occurred or did not occur after the petition date.

3 The parties offered two very different answers to 4 the question of the extent of LBHI's guaranty liability.
5 Maverick maintains that LBHI owed it $118.1 million as of 6 the petition date, reflecting the value on the petition date
7 of the cash and securities on deposit with LBIE. Maverick 8 asserts its entitlement to such amounts, notwithstanding its 9 acknowledgement that on the petition date, it owed LBIE 10 approximately $129.6 million on account of margin loans and 11 loans of securities in connection with short trades.

12 As previously stated, automatic netting or setoff
13 on the petition date would thus have resulted in Maverick 14 owing LBIE an aggregate amount of $11.5 million. Maverick 15 argues that no such netting or setoff right existed as of 16 the petition date and that LBIE, in any event, took no 17 action to exercise setoff rights even if they had existed.
18 As such, Maverick maintains that LBHI cannot treat the 19 Maverick claims as having been subject to a net setoff or 20 netting on the petition date; LBHI disagrees.

21 Relying on certain provisions in the prime 22 brokerage documents, LBHI asserts that Maverick's position
23 ignores the purpose and function of collateral arrangements 24 and posits that LBIE had no obligation to return all of 25 Maverick's collateral custody as of the petition date.

1 Rather, LBHI asserts LBIE's liability to Maverick at any 2 given point in time was for excess collateral only, in 3 LBHI's words, quote, "The positive difference, if any, 4 between the value of the collateral and the amount of 5 Maverick's liabilities." Brief on remand at paragraph 14.

6 In support of its contention that LBIE's 7 obligations were limited to the return of net amounts of 8 Maverick's collateral, LBHI points to paragraph 5(d) of the 9 MLA, which makes any obligation on the part of LBIE to 10 return collateral expressly conditioned on the prior 11 satisfaction by Maverick of any liabilities to LBIE, stating 12 that, quote, "Upon satisfaction by Maverick of all 13 obligations and all obligations owed by Maverick to each 14 affiliate of LBIE, LBIE shall return to Maverick the 15 collateral." MLA at paragraph 5(d).

16 LBHI also points to other provisions of the prime 17 brokerage documents to argue that the Court should now treat 18 Maverick assets and liabilities as having been subject to an 19 automatic setoff because, pursuant to the prime brokerage 20 documents under specific circumstances, LBIE could elect to 21 take action to liquidate Maverick's collateral and apply the 22 proceeds to reduce any amounts owed by or to Maverick.

23 In support of this, quote, "clean and unambiguous 24 intent," end quote, LBHI cites to paragraph 3 of the prime 25 brokerage agreement, which states that, quote, "In addition,

1 in order to satisfy all of Maverick's outstanding
2 liabilities or obligations to any Lehman Brothers entity,
3 each Lehman Brothers entity may, to the fullest extent 4 permitted by law, at any time in its discretion and without 5 prior notice to you, use, apply, or transfer any and all 6 securities or other property or assets, including without 7 limitation, fully paid securities and cash." Brief on 8 remand, paragraph 15, citing prime brokerage agreement at 9 paragraph 3, emphasis added.

10 Moreover, LBHI asserts that even if Maverick's
11 cited provisions purportedly dictate Maverick's entitlement 12 to a gross claim, application of such provisions would 13 conflict with paragraph 13 of the master prime brokerage 14 agreement and would be mooted by paragraph 32 of the prime 15 brokerage agreement, the so-called cumulative rights 16 provision.

17 Paragraph 13 of the master prime brokerage 18 agreement provides, quote, "On the occurrence of an event of 19 default, the following shall immediately occur: (b) all 20 outstanding obligations of each party to deliver securities 21 or equivalent securities or to pay cash to the other under 22 this agreement shall fall due for performance immediately; 23 (c) the non-defaulting party shall establish as of the 24 termination date, the default market values of all 25 securities, equivalent securities, and cash to be delivered

1 or paid by each party under clause 13.1(b) above; (d) on the 2 basis of the sum so established, an account shall be taken 3 as of the termination date of what is due from each party to 4 the other under this agreement and the sums due from one 5 party shall be set off against the sums due from the other 6 and only the balance of the account shall be payable by the 7 party having the claim valued at the lower amount and such 8 balance shall be due and payable on the next following 9 business day."

10 "The cumulative rights provision provides that the 11 rights, remedies, benefits, and protections afforded to each 12 Lehman Brothers entity under this agreement and under 13 contract you may have with any Lehman Brothers entity, 14 whether heretofore or hereafter entered into are cumulative, 15 and in addition to any other rights, remedies, benefits, and 16 protections that any Lehman Brothers entity may have."

17 "To the extent that the provisions of any 18 contracts you have with any Lehman Brothers entity, whether 19 heretofore or hereinafter entered into are inconsistent, 20 whether the inconsistency be between the contracts or within 21 a single contract, the conflict shall be resolved in favor 22 of the provision which affords Lehman Brothers with the 23 maximum rights, benefits, or protection." Prime brokerage 24 agreement at paragraph 32.

25 I'm going to pause for a moment, folks, to get a

1 drink of water. I'll be right back. I am two-thirds of the 2 way done. Okay, back to the ruling.

3 Maverick, on the other hand, argues that there
4 cannot be automatic setoff or netting because a setoff can 5 only occur in a Chapter 11 proceeding when a party takes 6 specific action to exercise setoff rights and then record
7 such action, neither of which occurred here. See September 8 14th, 2020 letter from Maverick, Docket No. 60869, citing 9 Citizens Bank v. Strumpf, 516 U.S. 16 at 20 (1995).

10 Whether or not LBIE had a right of setoff on 11 LBHI's petition date or not is irrelevant, Maverick asserts,
12 because LBIE did not take action to accomplish the setoff 13 and did not record it.

14 More importantly, however, Maverick submits that 15 the prime brokerage documents contained highly detailed 16 mechanisms for automatic setoff, e.g., paragraph 4 of the 17 prime brokerage agreement and paragraph 10.2 of the GMSLA as 18 modified by section 9(v) of the addendum to the GMSLA, that 19 reflect the parties' agreement that LBIE's right to setoff
20 or to offset any obligation owed by Maverick to LBIE existed
21 only upon Maverick's default under the prime brokerage 22 agreement. In other words, the netting provision in the 23 prime brokerage agreement only applies if Maverick files for 24 bankruptcy or was in default on the petition date, and a 25 bankruptcy filing by LBIE would not result in an automatic

1 setoff of mutual debts.

2 Importantly, LBHI does not dispute this narrow 3 point; in fact, it has conceded that Maverick's assertion in 4 this regard is a correct one. See March 24th, 2017 hearing 5 transcript at page 18, line 6 to 10, filed at Docket No.
6 55115. Rather, LBHI argues that it is not dispositive or, 7 to put it colloquially, it is not kryptonite because, one, 8 the cumulative rights provision would save LBHI from such an 9 adverse outcome and, two, in any event, it is commercially
10 unreasonable to interpret the prime brokerage document in a 11 way that would require LBIE to return all custody collateral 12 on the petition date without regard to amounts that Maverick 13 owed LBIE. See September 10th, 2019 hearing transcript at 14 page 10 line 25 to page 12 line 11, page 20 line 22 to page 15 21 line 5.

16 LBHI asserts that it is aware of no cases, quote, 17 "where collateral posted under a prime brokerage agreement 18 was found to be owed separate and independent from the 19 obligations that such collateral secured." See reply at 20 paragraph 9.

21 The seeming inconsistency between these provisions
22 would be rendered irrelevant had LBIE paid Maverick $4.3
23 million on the petition date and used the remaining
24 approximately 114 million in proceeds to cancel Maverick's
25 indebtedness to LBIE, but this did not occur. Because LBIE

1 did not effectuate such a setoff on the petition date or 2 subsequently, LBHI is liable as guarantor for the remainder 3 due Maverick.

4 Maverick has the right to seek from LBHI as 5 guarantor the return of the full $118 million owed to 6 Maverick by LBIE, subject to a maximum recovery of that same 7 amount, which Maverick acknowledges. See opposition, 8 paragraph 32 stating that, quote, "That Maverick is entitled 9 to assert a claim for the full $118 million it was owed on 10 the petition date, subject to a maximum recovery of that 11 same amount, meaning in effect that Maverick can only 12 collect an addition $16.2 million from LBHI."

13 Restricted as this Court is to setting the amount
14 of Maverick's claims as of the petition date, the Court
15 concludes that Maverick is entitled to an aggregate allowed 16 claim against LBHI in the amount of $118.1 million, which 17 will entitle Maverick to recover from LBHI as guarantor
18 approximately $16.2 million of the $30 million Maverick paid
19 to LBIE.

20 Such a result is consistent with the relevant 21 provision of the prime brokerage documents in a manner that: 22 one, follows the direction of the District Court in its 23 ruling; two, gives effect to the provisions of the prime 24 brokerage documents that limit netting to circumstances in 25 which Maverick defaults; and three, does not give economic

1 to effect to a setoff that LBIE failed to effectuate on the 2 petition date. Simply put, LBHI remains liable for the full 3 amount of LBIE's breach measured as of the petition date.

4 Conclusion. For all of the foregoing reasons, 5 LBHI's objection to the Maverick claims is denied. The 6 parties are directed to submit an order consistent with the 7 foregoing.

8 Okay. Thank you for listening. I would ask -- I 9 see Mr. Fail, you're on the line and Mr. Hufendick, I would 10 ask that you prepare an order that reflects the Court's 11 ruling that states, "For the reasons stated on the record, 12 which are reflected in the transcript, a copy of which is 13 attached to the order, the motion is denied," that you 14 socialize that order with counsel for Maverick and then send 15 it to us in Word version when it's ready to be filed.

16 All right?

17 MR. FAIL: Thank you, Your Honor. Garrett Fail
18 for LBHI, understood.

19 THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Martin, anything from you?

20 MR. MARTIN: No. Thank you for your time, Your 21 Honor. We appreciate you taking the time to read that to us 22 today.

23 THE COURT: All right, very well. I know you've 24 been waiting a long time and there we have it. So it's good 25 to see your pictures on my screen. I hope you all have been

1 well and are enjoying a return to being out in the sun and 2 some more normal times. So enjoy the rest of your day and 3 thank you so much for your attention.

4 MR. FAIL: Thank you, same to you.

5 MAN: Thanks very much, Your Honor, and same to 6 you.
